

Other Features and Benefits

- > High-definition ANT+™ data
- > GPS, GLONASS and the WAAS navigation aid. (Up to 3-meter accuracy.)
- > 3G cellular connectivity with global roaming
- > One-button operation
- > Simple LED display
- > Proximity pairing
- > Impact resistant, waterproof and 24-hour battery life
- > No need for USB cables, file transfers or a cell phone.

On the Bike:

Collector can be mounted on the frame or seatpost using a purpose-built, rubberized bike mount. The mount works on Di2 battery mounts and the top tube mounts on modern triathlon bikes. A companion aero wedge ensures a snug fit on aerodynamic tubes. Add a seat rail clamp for under-the-saddle mounting.

On the Body:

There is a 1" elastic race belt with an adjustable buckle for riding and running. It includes gel holders and race number attachments. Qollector is waterproof, so it can be held in a cyclist's jersey or inside a triathlon race suit.

Stay connected, track your progress with Quarq Qollector

Quarq Qollector is the perfect tool for endurance athletes who want to seamlessly sync their data, share real-time tracking with friends and family, and connect with fellow riders on the road or trail.

Qollector captures high-definition ANT+™ data such as power, heart rate, gear selection, footpod stride rate, altitude, location and speed. It's transmitted over cell networks in real-time. The companion web platform, QuarqNet, delivers live tracking and metrics to smartphones, tablets and computers. The Friends feature shows you who's training right now.

Impact resistant and waterproof, the Qollector has a 24-hour battery life – saving your phone for real emergencies. It can be mounted on the frame or seatpost. There is a dedicated race belt. It works in jersey pockets and triathlon suits too.
